Every day, in every fire department across the nation, firefighters share their gripes. Sometimes this is done at the coffee table, at the tailboard or in a heat-of-the-moment email to the chief. While good gripes can be cathartic, they seldom produce results. If results are desired, change your gripe into a proposal by following these four simple rules.

- 1. Get your stuff together (gather information). Opinions are personal and everyone has them. To get results, use pertinent and current facts. Don't panic; you may have all the facts you need. Try brainstorming, mind mapping or outlining to bring them out.
- 2. What's the point (state the main point clearly)? Decision makers are often busy. Rambling and unclear communication is often discarded. When making a proposal, be concise, clear and factual.
- 3. Your point of view just doesn't matter (know your audience)! Explaining your point of view, while personally satisfying, will not always help you get what you want. Greater success is achieved when you ask, "What will my reader want to know?" What are the legitimate concerns of those whom you are trying to persuade?
- 4. Shape it up (use a proper proposal format). When a standardized format is used, information is readily available. Organized writing is persuasive writing. Always be objective and state your case based on the facts.

While griping has its purpose and is deeply ingrained within the culture of the fire service, positive results are seldom realized when a gripe is just a gripe. Next time the urge to gripe comes upon you, try turning that gripe into a proposal that can make a difference. You may find it more satisfying.

"Gripes go up not down. Always up. You gripe to me, I gripe to my superior officer, so on, so on, and so on."

— Capt. John Miller
(Saving Private Ryan)

A busy couple of weeks!

Between November 15th and December 3rd the Belmont Fire Department responded to five multi-alarm mutual aid fires. On November 15th we were dispatched to Salisbury Rd in Franklin at around 11:30 for a 1st alarm building fire. Crews assisted with air monitoring during overhaul. At 16:06 they responded back to the same location for a 2nd alarm fire and provide assistance with tanker shuttles. On November 30th just after midnight crews were dispatched to 39 Randlett Rd. in Canterbury for a 3rd alarm fire. On scene crews Assisted with rural hitch set up, then, went to Canterbury golf course and assisted with setting up water supply for tankers. On December 20th at 18:50 crews were dispatched for a reported building fire on Canterbury Shores Rd. Belmont Eng 2 and Tanker 1 were the first fire companies on scene under the command of Lieut. Newhall. Lieut. Newhall advised Concord Fire Alarm of the conditions found on arrival (see below) and recommended striking a third alarm. The last fire was on December 3rd at 19:30 for a building fire in the town of Northfield. Engine 2 was assigned to cover Park Street station but upon a 2nd alarm being struck they were reassigned to the fire scene. Crews were assigned in the basement for overhaul and fire control. At all scenes BFD personnel did an outstanding job and their actions are a reflection on all the men and women of the Department.

Remembering the Worcester 6

On December 3rd we paused to reflect of the tragic loss of life that occurred 13 years ago in the City of Worcester MA. On December 3, 1999, a five-alarm fire at the Worcester Cold Storage & Warehouse Co. building claimed the lives of six brave firefighters who responded to the call. These six heroes, The Worcester 6, sacrificed their lives to try and rescue two individuals who were believed to be trapped inside the inferno. May the Worcester 6 always be remembered FF Paul A Brotherton, FF Timothy P. Jackson, FF Jeremiah M. Lucey, FF James F. Lyons, FF Joseph T. McGurik and Lieut. Thomas E. Spencer"

Land Use News

Planning Board:

Members reviewed a list of four possible Zoning amendments and held a public hearing on the following:

Regulate and define Municipal Solid Waste Transfer Station – allow only in Industrial Zone.

The Board noted that from time to time some land uses such as “Municipal Solid Waste Transfer Station” that were not included when the original Zoning Ordinance was written in the 1980s need to be added to the Ordinance so that voters can determine within which zones the use will be allowed once an applicant obtains all applicable permits and approvals. Although this use is heavily regulated by the State of NH, the Town must still state where in the community such a facility would be able to locate.

During the public comment portion of their review, it was pointed out to the Board that the community within which such a facility is located often enjoys a significant reduction in that community’s cost of disposing of their solid waste. The Town Administrator offered the following comment: “...the cost of solid waste collection and disposal continues to rise each year; the budget as proposed for 2013 is in excess of $500,000 and the Town will be facing additional costs in the future as the Concord Regional Solid Waste Cooperative’s contract expires with Wheelabrator in 2014. If the amendment being discussed tonight goes forward to Town Meeting and is approved by the voters it may afford the Town other options for both collection and disposal of its Solid Waste in a more cost effective manner.”

Based on their review and all public comment, the Board voted to send this proposed amendment to the 2013 town meeting ballot so voters can decide if they want the Town to take advantage of such an opportunity. Any proposal to locate a Municipal Solid Waste Transfer Station within Belmont would still need to appear at all applicable Town Public Hearings held by all related Town Boards and Commissions, and obtain all applicable Belmont and State permits before being allowed to operate within our community. The Full Text of the proposal can be seen at www.belmontnh.org/docs/TemporaryDocs/13AmendZOVoterHandout.pdf

Zoning Board:

Approved Special Exception for Linda Bickford for a residential addition, 9 Sleepy Hollow Lane

Land Use Staff Quick Notes:

Board and Staff members are working with Lakes Region Planning Commission on a Local Advisory Working Group to prepare a Rte 140 Corridor Study. As part of this project, traffic and accident data as well as existing and proposed land use development within the corridor is being evaluated. Part of the final report of the committee will include recommendations for improvements at key intersections. The study is still underway and more information on the current project can be obtained at http://lakesrpc.org/services\_transportation\_route140.asp.

Police Department News

The men and women of the Belmont Police Department would like to wish everyone a safe and Happy New Year. With the New Year upon us, crime unfortunately continues. As the weather cools and hours of daylight are shorter, we wanted to give you just a few reminders about what you can do to help deter personal and property crimes.

Home Security-

If you plan to be away for an extended amount of time, make sure you notify family and or trusting neighbors. You can notify the Belmont Police Department who can check your home while you are away. Vacant house check forms can be picked up at the police department or on our website <http://www.belmontnh.org/bpd/bpdmain.htm>. Be sure to have someone take care of your mail/newspapers and tend to the yard as these are sometimes very good indicators that someone has been gone for a while.

- Lock your doors and windows any time you are away from your home. You would be surprised how many burglars come through an open and unlocked door or window, even in the cool winter months.
- Be visible. Let people know that neighbors pay attention and watch out for each other. You can do this in a very simple way; say hello. When you see your neighbors, wave and say “Hi”. When you see people you do not know on your street wave and say “Hi”. This sends the message that you are engaged, that you are observant and that you acknowledge the presence of those you see. As people who are looking to break into cars or homes don’t want to draw attention to them, letting them know that they’ve been seen and acknowledged will likely make them go elsewhere.
- Because it is getting darker earlier, many of us who work during the day arrive home after dark. Having good lighting around the exterior of your home gives you good visibility of your home when you approach, and it gives your neighbors good visibility of your home so they can spot anything out of the norm while you are not home. Have porch lights on from dusk until dawn or equip these areas with motion sensors. Timers are available in most stores for indoor lighting that will help deter thieves and also provide safety lighting upon entering your home.

Be wary of strangers at your door. We often have people going door to door asking for assistance, giving a story that they have run out of gas, or their car is broken down and ask to use the phone. This tactic could be in use because you answered the door. This stranger could just be checking to see if anyone is home. If no one answers they may try to gain entry to the home. This doesn’t mean you have to open the door for them, but let this person know you are home. Talk with this stranger through the door. Don’t worry about being rude, we are talking about your safety. When in doubt, Belmont Police Department can be called upon to confront the unknown person at your door.

Thefts from vehicles-

Lock all vehicles ALWAYS even if the vehicle is in your driveway and take the keys with you. Don’t give someone an easy opportunity to steal from your vehicle.

Often cars are broken in to because something is left in plain view; a brief case, purse computer bag, a GPS, a cell phone... The most effective way to prevent your vehicle from being broken in to is to not leave anything of value in your vehicle visible or not.

Park in well lighted areas whenever possible. Be aware of your surroundings. If you are traveling to a new place, the internet makes it easy to look up your destination. Familiarize yourself with the area prior to leaving.

Lastly, The Belmont Police Department is here to serve you. Do not hesitate to call when there is suspicious activity. As stated above an easy and effective deterrent is to let others know they have been seen.

Town Clerk/Tax Collector News

You may come to the Town Clerk/Tax Collector's Office, Monday—Friday, 7:30 to 4:00, or you may go to the web, to register your dog/dogs.
